DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary 623 Kearney street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him
The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering

Horrible Diseases.
How many thousands of persons both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system? Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians friends, at [illegible] to those who are suffering with any of these [illegible] life-destroying maladies—see that they are [illegible] and cured before it be too late. Send them [illegible] to DR. GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years [illegible] certain to cure the most inveterate case [illegible] or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted or to those who [illegible] welfare of their friends [illegible] tended doctors who infest [illegible] skill in curing all diseases [illegible] upon the public by using [illegible] physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry [illegible] may fall into the hands of these charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.
[illegible] the consequence of self-abuse [illegible] sexual indulgence, is [illegible] to an almost [illegible] with unerring certainty [illegible] symptoms unless [illegible] measures, viz Sallow [illegible] tenance, dark spots before the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, stunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs consumption, night sweats monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately either in person or by letter and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

DR. GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

Caution to the Unfortunate.
Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn to certificates dupe the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places are tradesmen and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets, as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus letters, certificates, pretended patients letters, etc. Dr Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Cured at Home.

FRANCIS P BLAIR JR

PORTLAND July 11 1875

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

I find the following which I take from the Congressional Directory of 1872

Francis P Blair Jr of St Louis was born in Lexington Kentucky Feb 19 1821 graduated at Princeton college New Jersey studied and practiced law was elected to the 35th 36th 37th and 38th Congresses entered the Union army in 1861 and was appointed major general in 1862 was nominated by the President collector of internal revenue in 1866 was rejected by the Senate was afterwards nominated by the President minister to Austria and was rejected by the Senate was elected to the State Legislature of Missouri in 1870 was elected to the United States Senate in 1871 as a Democrat to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of C D Drake and took his seat January 1871

His term of service in that body expired March 3 1873 since which time he has resided at his home in bad health constantly failing We believe he was for a short time very much strengthened by the infusion of blood from other veins into his own but this proved of no avail when the dread summons came

Mr Blair was a bold and fearless champion of whatever party he happened at the time to be joined He had a tall muscular frame and somewhat fierce countenance He possessed many genial and generous qualities and some faults Let the latter be buried may the good deeds be remembered

MISSISSIPPI AND DANUBE

SOME SENSIBLE REMARKS ON THE COMPARISON

An ardent opponent of the scheme now ratified by Congress for improving the mouth of the Mississippi by jetties writes a long letter to the Memphis Avalanche on that theme His argument is in brief that the jetty plan having worked well at the mouth of the great Danube does not prove that it will work well on the greater Mississippi because the two rivers differ greatly The main points of difference according to him, are the greater area of the Mississippi its greater volume of water the greater amount of sediment it holds in solution its lack of the firm banks that served to support the Danube jetties and the difference in the winds and the shore currents of the two harbors All this if true is some what important It shows that the success of the scheme on the Danube is not the absolute proof of its success on the Mississippi that it has been asserted to be But the writer falls into a greater error than any of those he tries to expose when he coolly assumes that the argument from the analogy of the Danube is the only one upon which the Mississippi jetty theme rests So far from being the only one, it is not even the most important The idea has been successfully tried in several European rivers The history of these trials furnishes a body of cumulative proof of great weight But the strongest reason is given by the Mississippi itself That river once had its delta near Camden It has pushed its channel 600 miles to the south by constructing its own jetties In other words Capt Eads merely proposes to do quickly and by human labor what the river does slowly and by purely natural forces The simple law that regulates the sedimentary deposits of a great river is the greater the velocity the the greater the sediment carried in solution per cubic foot of water Thus a current of from four to five miles an hour in the Mississippi will carry along about a cubic inch of sediment to a cubic foot of water As the breadth of the channel increases the current slackens and a proportional part of the sediment drops to the bottom and helps form a bar or shallow Hence the delta Now the delta used to be in the vicinity of Cairo Illinois As the mud brought down by the river was deposited at the side and shaped into banks the channel was contracted the velocity of the current increased and the sand bar between the newly formed banks was swept away What the Mississippi has done for itself from Cairo to New Orleans and below Captain Eads now proposes to do for it the rest of the way He is carrying out Nature's idea and using Nature's processes and may safely be relied upon to win —Chicago Tribune

WHAT WAS NOT SPECIALLY REPORTED AT BUNKER HILL'S CENTENNIAL.—Bayard Taylor's description in the New York Tribune "I was surprised to find a Palmetto tree fifteen feet in height, apparently growing at the foot of Bunker Hill monument I believe it was only planted there yesterday but it already waves its fan like leaves on the northern air with the grace and contentment of its southern home Singularly enough very few persons seemed to notice it and none of those to whom I pointed it out were quite ignorant of its character Yet there could be no more beautiful nor more consoling symbol of the reunion of the States

THE GREATEST AND MOST POWERFUL MAN IN AMERICA —You may call Ben Butler a ruined man but if you had seen him as he commanded the militia of Massachusetts on Bunker Hill day sitting proudly on his horse with one eye glaring fiercely on a small boy on one side of the street and the other eye on another small boy on the other side of the street you would have said that he was the greatest and most powerful man in America —Chicago Times

MARK TWAIN

AN OLD ENGINEER WHO REMEMBERS HIM AS A CUB—A THRILLING EXPERIENCE NOT ON BOARD THE ATLANTIC

A St Louis correspondent of the Milwaukee Sentinel writes While in front of the Southern Hotel talking to a future great citizen about the old steamboat days of St Louis when captains clerks and pilots ran the town and ran it under a full head of steam an ancient mariner let up on whittling the arm of the next chair turned toward us and remarked "You were speaking of the old river days" "We was" I replied "Perhaps now you have been reading some of Sam Clemens' yarns?" I held up a copy of the Atlantic open at Mark Twain's article which had really brought about the conversation "Yes I thought so well he don't tell all he knows and the social river man reaching over for a tobacco pouch which a gentleman was passing to a friend "There's one little affair he hasn't worked into print yet and it isn't likely he will"

The social gent left off on his reminiscence at this point and talked generally about the bad outlook of the crops and the universal disadvantage of drouth Seeing that nothing but gin and sugar would start him anew he was persuaded into a convenient bar room and after hoisting in three fingers (held vertically) a handful of crackers and several chunks of cheese he proceeded with his anecdote interrupting himself a number of times to remark to the barkeeper "The same pard"

I was first engineer of the Alexander Scott when Sam Clemens (Mark Twain) was a cub in her pilot house He was a chipper young chap with legs no bigger than a casting line and fuller of tricks than a mule colt He worked off jokes on everybody aboard from the skipper down to the roosters (darky deck hands) but they were all taken in good part only I lay by two or three to pay back About the time Sam got the run of the river well enough to stand alone at the wheel the Scott went into the lower river trade carrying cotton from Memphis to New Orleans Perhaps now you never see a boat in the cotton trade Burn Well you may cover your cotton from stem to stern with tarpaulins and keep your donkey engines steamed up but if a spark of fire touches cotton enough to fill a tooth your boat's a corpse It's punker'n gunpowder to burn, and no pilot can reach the lower deck from the texas in time to save himself let alone his Saratoga So you see everybody in that trade is on the watch and an alarm of fire in a boat loaded with cotton will turn a man's hair gray quicker'n an alligator can swaller a nigger

Sam being a young pilot and new to the cotton trade was told over and over again how the profession would lose a promising cub if ever fire broke out on the Scott, and the boy got nervous My striker and me always managed to be in the lunch room when Sam came off watch and as he came in we would talk about the number of cotton boats that burnt in such a year and how such a cub would have made a lightning pilot if he hadn't got burnt up in the cotton trade and we always noticed that Sam's appetite failed him after that and instead of going to bed he would go prowling around the lower deck, and peering about the hatchways smelling at every opening like a pup that has lost its master

One day when we backed out of Memphis with a big cargo of cotton I complained in Sam's hearing that the mate had loaded the boat too near the engines The boy followed me into the engine room and without seeming to notice him I told my striker I would do my level best to keep that cotton from catching fire but that it was a slim chance with bales piled up right before the furnace doors Sam got whiter'n a bulk-head and went up to the texas where he packed his Saratoga ready for any business that might come before the meeting When he went on watch I posted the second clerk to keep an eye on him

He hid behind a smoke stack and saw Sam alone in the pilot-house his hair on end his face like a corpse's and his eyes sticking out so far you could have knocked them off with a stick He danced around the pilot house turned up his nose like he was smelling for a polecat pulled every bell turned the boat's nose for the bank and yelled "fire!" like a Cherokee Indian on the war path That yell brought everybody on deck. We had a big cargo of passengers and the women screeched the men rushed for cork pillows and the crew yanked the doors off their hinges and rushed to the guards ready to go overboard at the first moderation of weather The skipper had hard work to make the crazy passengers believe that there wasn't any fire but he brought them to reason finally I paid no attention to Sam's frantic yells so the boat didn't run her nozzle against the bank he aimed for The captain and first pilot and a lot of passengers after hunting all over the boat couldn't find a sign of fire anywhere outside the furnaces and then they went for Sam He swore up and down that he smelt cotton burning no use talking to him—he knew the smell of burning cotton and by thunder! he had smelt it

The first pilot said kind of soft and pitying ly to Sam, "My boy if you'd told me you was so near the jim jams I'd stood double watch for you Now you go and soak your head in a bucket of water and take a good sleep and you'll be all right by to morrow" Sam just biled over at this, and when a pretty young woman passenger said to the skipper loud enough for Sam to hear "So young and nice looking so—how sad it would make his poor mother feel to hear how he drinks" he fairly frothed at the mouth You never see a fellow so touched down as Sam was after that and though the boys never quit running him he never talked back, but looked kind of puzzled, as though he was trying to account for that smell of cotton smoke"

"And what was the cause of the smell?" I asked the Ancient He chuckled a full minute and said "You see there's a speaking tube running from the engine room to the pilot house I had in mind the tricks Sam had played on me and having worked him to a nervous state about fire I waited till he was alone in the pilot-house and then set fire to the little wad of cotton stuffed it in the speaking tube and the smell came out right under his nose A little sugar in it pard

CANBY, July 8, 1875

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Since my last letter has called forth considerable inquiry in regard to this section of Oregon I should be glad to intrude once more on your columns In answer to my former letter in the OREGONIAN, Mr Charles F Carman of Hamburg Fremont county Iowa makes the following inquiries in regard to this part of Oregon

First—What will improved land cost per acre

Second—On oak land is the timber thick or thin?

Third—Hazel land—is it high or low, or very thick?

Fourth—What is the color of your soil?—how far from Salem or Portland and in what direction?

Fifth—Is the locality well watered? Is it healthy Is there plenty of fish?

He then says several families desire to come, if they can sell out as the grasshoppers have taken three fourths of all their crops there

I will answer Mr Carman's questions for the benefit of himself and others

First—As good land as there is in the State has sold lately for $2 50 per acre though it ranges as high as $8 Considerable land is offered here at $4 Mr Williamson who called on me yesterday found good land at $4 with as long credit as he desired with a chance to work for lumber at the mill to build with which is only three miles distant and can be had at from $6 to $7 per M

Second—There is considerable open land and much scattering brush

Third—Both high low and sloping and some of it is very light

Fourth—Soil black Sub soil clay No gravel Salem 30 miles south Portland northwest 25 miles

Fifth—Water plenty Extremely healthful Fish plenty, though not taken with hook and line much

The foregoing description will generally apply to all parts of Western Oregon though intended to apply to Clackamas county in which county several thousand can yet find homes provided they have the nerve to do as others have done Clear away the brush plow and sow and reap from 20 to 40 bushels of wheat per acre with no discount for grass hoppers JAMES W OFFIELD

Dr H Smith, of Salem, returned last week from the Santiam mines where he and others relocated the White Bull quartz ledge in the interest of the original members of the old Union Mining Company, which built the mill at Quartzville years ago They are confident that the ore is valuable and can be made to pay if properly worked They have located 1,500 feet on the ledge in the names of H Smith, Wiley Kenyon, Dr Chance Billy Laughead Dr Chapman of Portland, I R. and J H Moores George Edes and two others After doing $1,000 worth of work on the ledge the company will purchase it at government rate $20 per acre, probably including a width of 600 feet and 1,500 feet in length

Dr Smith says to the Salem Record that he left a party of men from Albany and Silverton at work in Dry Gulch, on the Santiam, on what they consider very rich diggings. There is a great extent of pay dirt which they have claimed for the whole width of the gulch, and though they have not yet reached bed rock they have found from 6 to 12 feet of pay that will they think, average 5 cents to the pan They have more ground there than can be worked out in years. Water can be brought by a ditch six miles long from the Santiam but in the meantime the present owners propose to save water as the Union Mill Company used to do, in a reservoir at the head of the gulch, and use it as wanted, and they think they can work a sluice nine months in the year

THE SEWING WOMAN'S LIFE

In the room below me are two worn, faded out old maids They have been here in New York for eight years running a sewing machine Of life's necessaries they partake little handfulls—coal at ten cents a basket, a fist full of kindlings at three cents, everything else in proportion They have never seen the inside of a theater lecture room or any place of recreation They know no more of the Fifth Avenue and its fashionable afternoon attractions than they do of the moon They are too poor to take a paper Of the daily life, incident and event, of this great city, they catch only the faint est echoes Their life is bounded from year's end to year's end within the compass of three blocks Present them with books or theater tickets They have no time to use either The trifle of car hire between their house and the theater is for them a serious matter It would buy two large loaves Money comes very hard There are so many roads, too for their hard earned dollar to travel They have one regular caller —the landlord's agent They let a few rooms, expecting thereby to make their own rent clear Risky business—so many lodgers leave them minus. So life goes on from year to year—tied to a sewing machine, furniture getting shabbier, carpets more ragged, themselves older, grayer, more sallow, leaner The chapter of one week's bother and perplexity to make both ends meet, succeeded by a similar one the next, every plate and lamp which breaks, every shoe wearing out, is regarded with dread and heart-sinking, for no means of replacement are known, all goes to buy bread, meat, fuel and pay the rent. The demands of these clamorous bodies are inexorable Both ends meet? No, they never meet. The gap between them widens every year What a charming, cheering, beautiful world is this to these people! How they must bless the Creator for giving them the grass and flowers they so rarely see, the fresh ocean breezes of Sandy Hook, so few miles away, which they can never afford to inhale; the magnificent scenery of the Highlands, two hours' sail distant, but which a lean purse locks out from them As I write I hear these sewing machines whizzing all around me, propelled by prisoners and slaves like these, tied to garrets and crowded tenement houses, always in dread of want, toiling fourteen, fifteen, sixteen hours per day, while the happy prisoner at the Penitentiary works his eight or ten and retires at night with a certainty of food for the morrow, and no landlord dunning him for the rent.—Exchange.

NO FOOL FOR HIS CLIENT.—The Melbourne Argus tells the following rather good story: 'A gentleman of the legal profession at one of the great mining centers, having spent a gaudy evening at a leading hotel, found the fresh air too much for him. Instead of reaching the bosom of his family, he gravitated to the lock-up, with the much-needed assistance of a servant of the Queen in full uniform The lock-up keeper didn't know him, and consequently couldn't send for his friends to bail him out, as is frequently done by those tender hearted officers of justice. So he was allowed to sleep until seven in the morning, when he was aroused and asked his name, which he promptly said was 'Johnson' He obtained, soap, water, and a clothes brush, and was refreshed by a cup of tea He then proposed to the lock-up keeper that the officials should walk beside him to the Police Court When the time came, this was done, and by keeping the officer in earnest converse, it appeared as though the lawyer was engaged upon some business before the court, and when the name of Johnson was called, he calmly rose and said, 'I appear for the prisoner, your Worship' 'What!' said the Police Magistrate, 'do you deny that he was drunk?' 'Oh, no,' he replied, 'he was very drunk, but is very sorry for it' 'Five shillings, or six hours' imprisonment,' said the Police Magistrate. 'I will pay his fine myself,' said the ready-witted gentleman, who, in this instance, showed that the man who is his own lawyer hasn't always a fool for his client."

GAVE HIS NOTE FOR HIS BRIDE.—The Albert Lee (Minn) Standard says "Two young men, one of them residing in the northern part of this county, and the other in the southern part of Steele county, were each enamored with the same young lady. The affections of the young lady were about equally divided between the two Hard words and blows failed to settle the difficulty As a last resort, the Freeborn county man agreed to relinquish all his right and title to the fair damsel for the sum of $100. The other chap refused, and Freeborn county showed a willingness to do the fair thing, by then offering to give $100 and take the disputed property himself Steele county scorned the offer Our man raised the bid to $125, which was not accepted. One hundred and fifty dollars failed to reach him, but when the bid was raised to $160 it proved too much for his cupidity, and with eagerness he cried out, 'Take her' All this time the expectant bride stood looking on, an indifferent spectator, apparently caring not whether Freeborn or Steele county finally came out ahead The winning man finally gave his note for $160, with the bride's father as indorser, and the marriage took place without any unnecessary delay. And now we understand the parties propose to resist the payment of the note on the ground of 'no value received'"

GOOD COFFEE.—Never decant coffee. Whatever else you may do about it, bring it to the table in the vessel in which it was made A handsome urn or gorgeous coffee pot is the grave of good coffee When hot coffee is emptied from one vessel into another, the kitchen ceiling generally receives the essence-laden vapor which should have found its way into the cups of the breakfast table. And one word about these cups. When the coffee enters them it should find the milk or cream already there

MONDAY MORNING, JULY 12, 1875.

THE OREGON AND WINNEMUCCA RAILWAY—VISIT OF THE CENTRAL PACIFIC DIRECTORS.

For some time past, as we learn, negotiations have been making and a long correspondence had between the directors of the Oregon Central Pacific (Winnemucca) Railway Company, and certain capitalists of New York, for the construction of the Winnemucca railway, the result of which is that a guaranty and offer in writing has been made by those capitalists to furnish money to build and equip the road complete from Portland to Winnemucca within three years, on two conditions. These are:

First—That the people of Oregon subscribe $1,500,000 of the stock of the company, which is not required to be paid up till the road has been built and the cars are running through from Portland to Winnemucca.

Second, That the Winnemucca Company obtain guaranties in writing for 20 years from the Directors of the Central Pacific, that the latter will give to the people of Oregon precisely the same rates of fares and freights from Ogden, over the Central Pacific road to Winnemucca, as they now give, or may hereafter give to California, in order that Oregon may have for these 20 years the same rates and time of transit as California. The object of the capitalists in making these stipulations, is that the people of Oregon shall own their own road, or have a pecuniary interest therein, and that Portland and the whole Northwest coast may be in a position during the currency of the railway bonds, to compete on equal terms with San Francisco and California in railway advantages, facilities and rates, so as thus to secure to the proposed bondholders that the interest will be duly paid on their bonds. It seems they have every confidence in the success of the Winnemucca road, from the fact that it has two connections: 1st, with the Eastern States via Winnemucca, and 2d, with California and Southern Pacific roads, which must connect somewhere in the Klamath country, each of which they think will be self-supporting.

It will be remembered that the Railway Committee of the Portland Board of Trade, and Mr. B. J. Pengra waited upon the directors in San Francisco in May last. That meeting was for the purpose of ascertaining what running connections and fare and freight terms the Central Pacific would give to the Winnemucca road and the people of Oregon. The Central Pacific directors, without then committing themselves to any definite agreement, stated verbally, and in a general way, that they would be prepared hereafter, when negotiations were fully matured for building the Winnemucca road, to sign agreements and enter into such working arrangements with the Oregon company as would be satisfactory to the people of Oregon. Accordingly a committee of the directors of the Central Pacific Company, consisting of ex-Gov. Stanford, C. P. Huntington, Esq., and D. D. Collton, Esq., will reach Portland this evening to confer with the directors of the Oregon Central Pacific Company—among whom are W. S. Ladd, H. W. Corbett, Henry Failing and others of our wealthiest citizens—as to the proposed working arrangements between the two companies. The Central Pacific directors will also, while here, examine the North Pacific coast generally, including the Puget Sound, after which they will return to Portland, whence, with two or more of the Oregon Central Pacific directors, they will proceed over the westside road and other conveyance to Eugene, and thence eastward by the proposed line of the Winnemucca road over the Cascade range of mountains to Winnemucca. After meeting the Winnemucca surveying party who are now out, they will return to the Klamath Lake country, where the connection is to be made with the California system of roads; and from this point return to San Francisco overland.

Mr. B. J. Pengra and William Koehler, Esq., the representative here of the German bondholders, left here last Saturday with the train to Roseburg to meet the Central Pacific directors, and these gentlemen will all return in the president's car of the Oregon & California Railway, reaching Portland to-night.

If, as we hope, satisfactory working arrangements are concluded here, between the directors of the two companies, then the public will be officially informed of the details of the offer made by the New York proposed bondholders to build the road, and of the arrangements made with the Central Pacific directors, and we shall all learn exactly on what conditions and in what time it may be built. It is, however, evident from the action taken by all parties, and the visit of the Central Pacific directors here in Oregon, that our railway prospects are brighter than they have been for some time, and we trust that arrangements will be made which will be for the benefit of Oregon and of Washington Territory.

THE NEW MOTIVE POWER.

The Keeley Motor still attracts attention at the East, notwithstanding the extinguisher which was placed upon it by the Scientific American. That paper, which is commonly considered authority upon such subjects, declared, after examining the claims of the Motor, that it was not a Motor at all, but a fraud. The general public appeared to have reached the same conclusion in advance and without applying scientific tests. But some of the other newspapers say they should like to inspect the reasoning of the American before they accept its decision as a finality; and the Chicago Tribune reminds the general public that some time ago when a young enthusiast named Morse went lecturing through the country to very indifferent audiences about his new motor, electricity, "anybody who could not demonstrate that Morse's invention was a humbug, was himself the merest smatterer."

The secret of Keeley's machine has not been authoritatively published, but some who evidently know the general facts with regard to his experiments have given their information to the public, excepting as to the method of utilizing the power, that alone being claimed by him as an original discovery or invention. The basis of his power is the great expansion of carbonic acid gas under certain peculiar circumstances. At 32° of temperature, and under a pressure of 36 atmospheres, carbonic acid is a liquid. Reduce the temperature below the freezing point for water and add to the pressure, and it becomes a solid. From this solid, say the scientific people, proceeds a vapor which possesses the most marvelous expansive properties. A writer who has been investigating the subject, with special reference to the question whether there is anything in the Keeley machine, gives the following statement of the expansive power of this gas at different temperatures:

At 5 degrees Fahrenheit the pressure in pounds per square inch is 372.

At 10 degrees Fahrenheit the pressure in pounds per square inch is 403.

At 20 degrees Fahrenheit the pressure in pounds per square inch is 460.

At 30 degrees Fahrenheit the pressure in pounds per square inch is 560.

At 40 degrees Fahrenheit the pressure in pounds per square inch is 697.

At 45 degrees Fahrenheit the pressure in pounds per square inch is 1,080.

The claim of Keeley is not that he has discovered a new force, but that he has found out a means of utilizing a known force which is greater than any now in practical operation in the mechanic arts and manufactures. The Tribune thinks it is beyond doubt that "the mysterious casualty in Boston a few weeks ago, in which a large tenement building, the first floor of which was occupied by a drug-store, was blown to atoms with great loss of life, leaving no trace of the source of mischief, was an illustration of what Keeley's motor can do if left to itself. The reservoir of carbonic acid gas exploded." The question is, can that immense force be brought under control and made to drive machinery—to propel ships and draw trains? If this is not impossible in the laws of physics, why may not Keeley have discovered the means of accomplishing it?

THE PRAYER GAUGE TO BE APPLIED.

Professor Tyndall's famous "prayer gauge" is at last to be practically tested, and that, too, on almost the exact plan proposed by him. There is a religious sect in England who style themselves the "Peculiar People," and whose point of peculiarity, says an exchange, consists in their literal acceptance of the directions given by the Apostle James, when he said, "Is any sick among you, let him call for the elders of the church, and let them pray over him, anointing him with oil in the name of the Lord, and the prayer of faith shall save the sick, and the Lord shall raise him up." The Peculiar People, taking the Apostle to mean just what he says, are about to erect a hospital in London for the treatment of the sick upon this plan. Physicians and medicines are to be excluded, and the prayer of faith, supplemented by the anointing with oil, is to be the sole curative agent employed. Should the experiment prove successful, however, as a method of healing the sick, instead of being generally accepted as a proof of the efficacy of special prayer, it will be claimed by each of four different classes as a demonstration of their respective theories. First, the class who believe in praying at a mark will claim it as establishing the correctness of their views. Second, those who believe that medicines are positively harmful, and that more of the sick would recover without medicine than do recover with medicine, will think their notions are verified beyond rational controversy. Third, the class, by no means small, who insist that the conditions of the body are so intimately connected with the mental state, that a good cheerful mind with faith in the recovery of the body, will cast out disease unless it be incurable by any agency, will point in triumph to this experiment as a complete vindication of their theory. The fourth will be a new class, who will write interminable and painfully philosophical essays to explain the rationale of the "oil cure." Most people, however, will be likely to consider the experiment a tolerably fair test of the prayer gauge, and its success or failure will be regarded as decisive of the controversy between Tyndall and the church people.

SUSPENSION OF COTTON MILLS.

The closing of the Atlantic cotton mills at Lawrence, Massachusetts, of which announcement is made this morning, would be an event of considerable moment, if it had no other significance than the throwing out of employment of 1,250 operatives who depend on their daily work for the daily bread of themselves and those dependent on them. But when we consider the cause of the suspension, it seems to possess a significance beyond that. The mill is stopped in order that the stock on hand may be worked off. That means that production has surpassed the demand; a circumstance which can not be confined to this establishment, as all the markets are open to all the mills. The suspension of other factories may be expected to follow. Last fall iron furnaces in Pennsylvania began to suspend because of over production, and in a very short time nearly all the leading establishments were involved. As a better way of meeting the emergency, however, and in order to save the operatives as far as possible, the owners after a series of conferences determined to start up again, but to make a reduction of ten per cent. all round in the amount of production. By that plan the pressure on the market was relieved, while at the same time the operatives were enabled to keep the wolf from the door. Unless the New England cotton mills can unite on some such plan, there will in all probability be further suspensions and much distress among their hands.

It is not very plain what the Democracy and the Republicans are quarreling about. Last week an organ of the Republican ring in this State declared the Democratic platform of California to be sound, and now the same paper pronounces the platform adopted by the Minnesota Democratic State Convention a good Republican platform. If, as the party organs assert, the contest is for the triumph of the principles held by the respective parties, and not for the choice of men personally fit for public officers, why does not the contest end when the parties arrive at so perfect an agreement on principles.

If Woodruff alias Miller, the Central Pacific embezzler, were as shrewd as he is knavish, they would not now be talking of turning him over to the tender mercies of the law. With a little discretion in the application of precedents he would have taken a good-looking school-marm under one arm and his carpet-bag under the other, and "went into a fur country," as Jim Fenton would say, where, after sending back to his victims a letter dated "Wide, wide world," he would have employed his talents in getting up political conventions, fixing up "Wrestling Joes," and the like.

Among the results of the embezzlement of $600,000 by Woodruff, alias Miller, the Central Pacific railway thief, say the dispatches, are a hundred thousand acres of land in Oregon. It seems to be Oregon's luck to have embezzlers with aliases turn to her borders for a hiding place for themselves and their plunder.

On the 29th of June the Treasurer of Rock Island county, Illinois, sold the entire real estate, right of way, tracks and depots of the Rockford, Rock Island and St. Louis Railway, for taxes, the price therefore being $5,739 98. That is pretty cheap railway property.

We got Frank P. Blair, junior, mixed with Frank P. Blair, senior, in noticing the death of the younger, but the notice was substantially correct after all, except as to age. Gen. Blair was 61 years old, instead of 80.

THE CAMPAIGN OPENED

The Headquarters of both political parties have again by common consent been established at ISAAC BLUM'S Store, which he has elegantly refitted to meet the requirements of the occasion. This place has become the recognized resort of connoisseurs, who pride themselves on the fact that they smoke Blum's Cigars and pay for them.

This card is published for the information of strangers. It is therefore well for visitors from various parts of the State and abroad, as well as San Francisco drummers and such like, to bear this in mind and act accordingly.

Parties desiring Imported Havanas or Key West Cigars by the box will please call before the present invoice is disposed of.

MONDAY MORNING, JULY 12, 1875.

CITY.

RAILROAD MAGNATES.—Portland, it seems, is honored with the presence of several of the noted railroad dignitaries of California. Some days ago, we learn, that a small party of railroad magnates of the Golden State left San Francisco overland for Oregon and Washington Territory. The party consisted of ex-Gov. Leland Stanford, president of the Central Pacific Railroad, C. P. Huntington, vice president, and D. D. Colton, one of the directors. The party came by rail to Redding, where they took a special coach for Roseburg. At the latter place the party was to be met by a special train, which left here on Saturday morning. Mr. Koehler, of the Oregon and California Railroad, and General Superintendent Brandt, went up on the special train to meet the party of notables, and accompany them to this city. Hon. B. J. Pengra also went to Roseburg to assist in doing honor to the grand visitors. Preparations were made at Eugene City for the accommodation of the party, and they stopped there last night. To-day the whole party will arrive here by special train. We learned quite late last evening that it is probable that Mr. Stanford is not one of the party. He confidently expected to accompany the other gentlemen to Oregon, but there is a probability that he was prevented from so doing by circumstances. On reaching here, it is the intention of the party to proceed in a few days to Tacoma, where they will examine the condition of the Pacific division of the Northern Pacific Railroad. Originally it was the intention of the party, after visiting Washington Territory, to proceed through Eastern Oregon and through the Wallamet Valley, and ly go over the Pengra route in private conveyance, from Eugene City to Winnemucca, and from thence by rail to California. However, we learn that they have not brought with them a private conveyance, in which case it is quite probable that the party, after visiting all the points of interest in this State and Washington Territory, will return to San Francisco by steamer.

METEOR.—About ten minutes past 11 o'clock Saturday night, a small but exceedingly brilliant meteor was seen to cross a portion of the heavens, and, exploding, disappear from sight. When first seen the meteor was in the east and traveling in a northwestern direction at an angle of about 35 degrees. A gentleman who witnessed it from the porch of the Cosmopolitan hotel informs us that the meteor appeared to him to be about eight inches in diameter, and was followed by a long streak of light. It was very bright and was traveling rapidly through space. Just as the meteor reached a point above where Ladd & Tilton's bank stands, it exploded, and a dozen or more small fragments, about the size of one's fist, were scattered in various directions. Each fragment seemed perfectly round, and had a small tail attached, being like so many miniature meteors. After being thrown some distance these miniature meteors disappeared one by one from sight in the surrounding darkness. Our informant states that the meteor reminded him forcibly of the course of a rocket through the sky, especially when it burst. Only a few seconds elapsed between the time when the meteor was first seen, and the explosion took place.

UNION MEETING.—So far as numbers and good feeling are concerned, the meeting held yesterday evening at the rink, by the various pastors of the churches in Portland, was very successful. The large building was well filled. At half-past 7 o'clock, exercises commenced with congregational singing, in which all joined heartily, that was continued until after Rev. J. D. Eaton read a portion of Scripture, which was followed by singing, and Dr. Dillon offered prayer. Singing followed, after which Dr. Lindsley spoke for some time in his usual impressive style. Revs. and Bentley also addressed the large audience for a brief space. At quite a late hour the meeting broke up. Union meetings will be continued each morning until Saturday, at the Presbyterian church, from 9 o'clock. Meetings will also be held at the Taylor street M. E. church, on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday evenings, beginning promptly at 8 o'clock.

"OREGON MEATS IN CHINA."—Under this head a contemporary says: "Mr. W. Moffett, in a letter written from Hongkong relative to meats packed in our market and taken there reflects somewhat unjustly, but we believe unintentionally against our packers. From the captains of vessels arrived from Hongkong we learn that the meats of our leading packers, Reid & Vestal and Johnson & ling, are invariably found in excellent condition and of superior quality, and as such meet with a quick market, but with prices high or low as to the quantity in the market. The owner of the bark Edward James purchased contrary to the advice of our packers, some inferior beef cattle, slaughtered and packed the same, and of course he finds no market for such. No complaints have ever been received against Oregon meats, packed by our leading butchers, and sent to nearly all parts of the globe.

CHURCH AT WALLA WALLA.—Rev. Mr. Wells, of Walla Walla, in a letter from that place, says: "The erection of a chapel has been secured at Weston by the subscription of $500 by the people there, and thus they are to obtain $500 from the bishop. A fine site has also been donated in the center of the town. There is no church building of any kind nearer than Walla Walla, eighteen miles away. There is no work being done there by any Christian body except our Church, and nowhere is there less prejudice against us. I see every reason to hope that the spiritual temple will keep pace with the building up of the material one. The ladies have just had a strawberry festival there, and realized in that little place thirty dollars for the church fund. Bishops Morris and Tuttle are to be present at the laying of the corner-stone there next month."

GONE SOUTH.—Dr. J. B. Pilkington will start this morning for Southern Oregon to look after mining interests there in which he is largely interested. The doctor is the president of the Quartz Mill and Mining Company, a corporation recently started here to develop mining claims that were taken up in Josephine county, near Kerbyville. A quartz mill is being erected and the doctor goes to see after things. His health having suffered from close attention to his profession, this will give him the relief he demands. He is full of enthusiasm as to the richness of his bonanza, and we must confess that he has made us believe somewhat in this enterprise. He will be gone some three or four weeks, and will visit San Francisco ere he returns. Dr. ker, recently from Ohio, has charge of Dr. Pilkington's office in his absence.

PASSENGERS.—Saturday the steamer John L. Stephens sailed from San Francisco for Portland, bringing the following passengers: J. Moore, W. A. Harrington, A. DeCosmos, Marsh, S. G. French, Dr. J. R. Provost, N. T. Moore and family, L. Rosenfeld, Elliott, Jos. Holladay, Gen. O. J. , E. O. Tarrant, J. W. Monich, J. H. and family, Mrs. H. G. Lewis and , J. W. Lehnkuhle, S. G. Allen, Pierce, U. S. A., and family, Capt. W. and 2 sons, O. Jackson, H. W. Fuller and 3 children, Mrs. Clark, E. Elton, S. W. Miller and wife, W. and family, A. J. Calhoun, A. J. Cunningham, H. A. Frey and family, C. F. Shepard, A. Huffman, A. P. Benton and family, Orcutt and wife.

AN ACCIDENT.—From the Statesman we learn that on last Thursday afternoon the steamer Governor Grover, while on her upward trip got stuck on the bar just below Salem, known as the Lone Tree Bar, and while being cordelled over when the cable parted and flying back struck Wm. Turnbull, pilot, and the mate, knocking them both to the deck. Mr. Turnbull received the blow on the upper part of the leg, burning it in a fearful manner and injuring it so much that he is not able to get his foot to the ground. The mate was struck on the hip and foot, but is not hurt so badly as to lay him up.

ASSISTANCE SOLICITED.—Notwithstanding the order of the county court to aid the woman whom we spoke a few days ago as being in destitute circumstances, some of her friends have concluded that rather than have her go to the poor farm with her five children, they will try to raise means to enable her to go to housekeeping. For that purpose parties will probably call on our citizens to-day, and we trust they will respond with their accustomed liberality.

MOONLIGHT EXCURSION.—Next Wednesday evening, the children of the Taylor-street M. E. Sunday School will have their "May day" excursion, by taking a trip to Oregon City by moonlight. Circumstances have prevented this excursion earlier in the season, and the children think that it is better late than never. Particulars as to hour of starting, etc., will be given hereafter.

APPOINTMENTS.—The following are Bishop Morris' appointments for the present month: July 11th, Baker City; 13th, consecration of St. Stephen's church, Baker City; 14th, Union, consecration of St. John's church; 15th, La Grande, consecration of St. Peter's church; 16th, Weston; 18th, eighth Sunday after Trinity, Walla Walla; 21st, Lewiston, I. T.; 25th, Mt. Idaho, I. T.

AMUSEMENTS.

Mr. Gilder's farewell concert, given last Saturday evening at Masonic Hall, was quite successful in all respects. A most excellent programme was presented and rendered very satisfactorily. Every performance was heartily encored, which is a sufficient compliment of itself. To-morrow morning Mr. Gilder, Mr. Whiffin, Miss Galton and Madame Babcox will start for Astoria. On Wednesday evening they purpose to give one of their ever-popular concerts at that place; prior to departing on the Stephens for San Francisco. We can conscientiously recommend these artists to the patronage of the Astorians. Their concerts are most thoroughly artistic and enjoyable.

MILITARY NOTES.

Orders No. 37, Fort Canby, W. T., July 2, 1875, directing the quartermaster's department to furnish transportation from Astoria to Portland, Oregon, to Wm. Patterson, a general prisoner, discharged from imprisonment June 30th, and without means, are confirmed.

So much of the imprisonment of George Mason, general prisoner, Fort Canby, W. T., at hard labor for five years, two years of which were remitted by special orders from the war department, as remains unexpired on the 18th inst., on recommendation of his post commander, for good conduct while undergoing sentence, is remitted, and he will be set at liberty.

THE STAGE.

McDonald's band of trained Indians performed at Wilson's amphitheater, San Francisco, on the 5th instant.

Among the volunteers at Frank Rea's benefit, at Maguire's theater, San Francisco, recently, we observe the following familiar names: Sallie Hinckley, Ada and Billie Deaves, Katie Bell, J. H. Leroy, Frank Cleaves, R. H. Cox and Jake Wallace.

The steamer to arrive will bring large invoices delayed with a view to save removal. Mr. Kohn's prices are low and he gives satisfaction invariably.

BRIEF NOTES.

Now is the time for picnics.

Yesterday was another scorcher.

Trout fishing is much indulged in.

Motion day in the State circuit court.

Spelling matches are things of the past.

A street sprinkler was needed yesterday.

Two thousand people celebrated at Olympia.

Dreadful quiet along the wharves yesterday.

Street improvements are going forward lively.

The present warm weather is a great promoter of laziness.

People have commenced to talk about "dog days" this weather.

For once in a great while Portland enjoys immunity from burglars.

What about that opera troupe? We haven't heard of it for some time.

Why no base ball games? Are the base ballists dead, or only sleeping?

"That's too ethereal" has taken the place of the slang expression of "too thin."

The lower stories of the wharves along the river front are now above the water.

The "heated term" is troubling the dear people more than the "third term."

Fanning one's self with a pencil isn't a popular method of amusement just now.

The dismantled hull of the steamer Senator now lies above water on the eastern shore.

A young man asked his girl for a lock of her hair, and was told that "hair costs money."

The work of repairing the damaged portions of the rigging of the bark Garibaldi has been commenced.

The Grand Council of the Independent Order of Red Men will convene in this city about the 24th inst.

Workmen were engaged Friday and Saturday in placing a slate roof on a portion of the new custom house.

The man who goes about with a flower on his coat may be all right, but it is well for even the smartest of us to be cautious.

The contractor has finished the work of supplying fourteen fire cisterns with large inch and a half connections with the water mains.

The best patronized institution in East Portland is the town pump, where a glass of pure cold water can be had for the trouble of pumping.

The Portland Water Company have just got through having the Fourth street and the two Sixth street reservoirs thoroughly cleaned and renovated.

Broken boards in sidewalks are too numerous. Accidents may happen if they are allowed to remain so—and then a bill of damages, etc.

"Oh for a cot in some vast wilderness, and a handsome young man to fan me," is what she exclaimed yesterday when the volatile quicksilver was waltzing among the 90s.

Owners of property standing near the corner of First and Stark streets, will be gratified when the "swallows homeward fly." They are voted a great nuisance by pedestrians.

The man who could devise some means of inducing the mercury to go to the bottom of the glass tube and remain there this warm weather, would be regarded a public benefactor.

Ten thousand pamphlets, descriptive of Oregon—its climate, soil, agricultural and mineral resources—were received on the last steamer. These pamphlets will be gratuitously distributed.

The closing exercises of the public school in East Portland and the one in Stephens' addition took place last Friday. The exercises were very interesting and reflected great credit upon the teachers.

"How provoking it is that the Beecher-Tilton trial is ended," is what a Fourth street young damsel petulantly exclaimed yesterday afternoon after vainly endeavoring to become interested in one of Beadle's dime novels.

Mr. Ludwig, of East Portland, had two very narrow escapes from suffocation. From some cause or other he could not obtain his breath, but both times he was relieved by having the handle of a spoon run down his throat. The second attack came near proving fatal.

The Welcome says: "Oregon is noted for her vast forests of large trees and also monstrous growth of vegetables, and she is now laying claim to producing the largest babies. A leading physician in East Portland has officiated in bringing into the world within the past year three that weighed respectively thirteen, fourteen and a half and fifteen pounds." This is information over which fond and doting mothers can feel proud.

A Revengeful Organ.

The stomach is a revengeful organ. If we assign it indigestible food, it not only refuses to perform its office, but inflicts upon us unspeakable tortures, such as those of indigestion, colic, cholera morbus, &c. Not content with giving us pain, it frequently inaugurates an excessive and wasting diarrhœa, called dysentery; which carries us to our graves. With a view to prevent these consequences, as soon as the stomach gives notice by premonitory twinges that its cargo is not to its liking, a wineglassful or two of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters should be swallowed. This admirable digestive cordial will promptly reconcile the refractory organ to its contents, and prevent any of those annoying and possibly fatal results which the presence of indigestible food in the stomach is liable to produce. The Bitters are also a superb tonic, restorative and appetizer.

How many have regretted that they did not take it in time." How easily those lives might have been spared for future usefulness, for WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY, a remedy of half a century's standing, cures coughs, colds, whooping-cough, and bronchitis.

BLOODLESS VICTORIES

Let others write of battles fought
On bloody ghastly fields
Where honor greets the man who wins
And death the man who yields
But I will write of him who fights
And vanquishes his sins
Who struggles on through weary years
Against himself and wins

Here is a hero staunch and brave
Who fights an unseen foe
And puts at last beneath his feet
His passions base and low,
And stands erect in manhood's might
Undaunted undismayed—
The bravest man that drew a sword
In foray or in raid

It calls for something more than brawn
Or muscle to o'ercome
An enemy who marcheth not
With banner plume and drum—
A foe forever lurking nigh
With silent stealthy tread
Forever near your board by day
At night beside your bed

All honor then to that brave heart,
Though poor or rich he be
Who struggles with his baser part—
Who conquers and is free
He may not wear a hero's crown
Or fill a hero's grave
But truth will place his name among
The bravest of the brave

THE WHISTLING NUISANCE

Once upon a time a young man made his appearance in a Western editorial room, whistling a lively air The Western editor said to him. "Now, my young friend, you can do better than that, you know Let yourself out a little, and don't be bashful We have nothing in the world to do but listen to you Give us something from the 'Bohemian Girl'" He was a bright young man, and he let himself out accordingly Then the Western editor led him gently on to another experiment, and then another, and then another, like the man in the fable whose story was without end, and the bright young man never faltered

It was getting rather late in the day, and the Western editor began to get nervous He said to himself, however, "I have set out to show this young man that he is a bore, and I shall persevere" And he added, encouragingly, "Give me something regarding the 'Old Folks at Home'" Much practice had by this time made the young man versatile, and he wheeled without a brake in his whistle, rendering the facts regarding the Swannee River with exceeding excellence "Now, then," said the Western editor, again glancing at the unfinished manuscript then rising and walking the floor briskly, "suppose you give us the extract from 'Norma,'" and he picked up a chair and bringing it nervously down upon the floor shattered every piece of timber in it I see you are gaining every moment my friend I think, in due season you will be the champion whistler of the continent Now give us Old Hundred by way of variety"

The bright young man again turned the current of his music without an accident, and the grand old piece was entered upon The Western editor resumed his walk, tearing his hair and occasionally biting some new lead pencils in two, but he preserved his temper "Ah" he said, finally, picking up his table and inverting it on the floor, then butting his head against the wall for a few moments, and turning a somersault from pure nervousness, though still preserving his temper, "most extraordinary whistler, never heard anything like it Suppose, now, you give us the occurrence relating to 'Molly Darling'" The bright young man entered upon the piece with alacrity "Keep it up" said the Western editor, casting a despairing look at his manuscript; "keep it up, my dear young friend Don't mind my absence Practice, practice—that leads to perfection I have to go now, but go on with the music. By-by"

He took his coat from the hook and went out, pausing on the door step to remark bitterly, "And this—this is satire, It would have done with a book canvasser or an insurance agent It would have answered the purpose, I am quite sure, with Satan himself But not with the whistler—not with the great American whistler" In the editorial room meanwhile the whistling went on, but finally the musician paused, looked around with a triumphant smile, and said hoarsely, "And this is satire Yes, I believe that's what they call it I expect I can whistle in peace next time"

The very warm weather still has a tendency to repress activity in business affairs though some improvement is noticed in the transactions of the afternoon of yesterday and the forenoon of to day The condition of monetary matters however, exhibits no change either as to rates or terms The supply of available funds is gradually accumulating and by the time the grain crop of the approaching harvest is to be moved, we have no fears that the means for that branch of business will be ample. At present but few large transactions are taking place, and loans are apparently dull at the usual rate of 10a12 per cent per annum

We notice in some of our State exchanges that immigrants who come here bringing legal tenders look upon the operation of having to pay them out and receiving only 86 cents worth of goods for $1 as a great hardship, and, though the fact is only in appearance there is nevertheless a doubt whether it would not have been better—for all concerned had business been done here as in the other States of the Union We are no special advocates of the use of paper money, and believe that there are many risks to run in using a paper currency but there are also risks specially applicable to bullion money as light weight base coin and the absence of those facilities for detection in theft or fraud which are among the advantages of paper money The special risks attending the use of paper have been shown in practice to be so capable of remedy by legislative precautions that at present, in England and Scotland £1 notes are taken with less suspicion than sovereigns. On transactions in general the chance of loss from forgery or insolvency is deemed less than the chances from light weight even if the risk of base coinage should not come into consideration

Miscellaneous.

The New York Bulletin has compiled a table from authentic sources showing the number of vessels owned by each country at the close of last year, compared with that registered under each flag in 1870 The table shows a decrease of 3 629 vessels the falling off being most marked in the case of Great Britain which lost during the time 2 627 vessels against a loss of 156 vessels by the Americans. It should be borne in mind that only sea going vessels of the United States are included The large number of American coasters if added would swell the list materially

Efforts are evidently being made to make better time with through tea shipments than heretofore The cargo of the Oceanic which arrived at San Francisco on the 29th June in sixteen days from Yokohama started in three trains for New York the next day, and is expected to reach its destination next Sunday

The Philadelphia Commercial List of June 26th says the following vessels had been chartered during the previous week to load coal at that port for the government Ship City of Philadelphia 2 000 tons for Mare Island bark W H Thorndike, 1 000 tons for Sitka ship Alhambra 1 650 tons for La Paz ship Hamilton 1 000 tons Mare Island

The starting up of the Oswego iron works is a fact worthy of note amid the apparent dullness prevailing in industrial enterprises in our State among which this is one of the most important

The farmers are now busy with their hay crops, and the yield promises to be larger than usual

The reports reaching us from different parts of the valley as to the effect of the hot weather so far are somewhat conflicting some holding that no damage will result to the growing crop and others that the loss will be very considerable

The visit of several gentlemen prominently connected with railroad interests in California to our State and city induces considerable talk as to their probable objects If they come with the intention of inaugurating enterprises for the development of our state they will be gladly welcomed

All the vessels which left this port grain laden for Europe prior to the 1st of January have been reported as arriving, except two and one of these put into a South American port for repairs

The salmon market in San Francisco is said to be stiffening up a little A firm on the Columbia sold 1 000 cases last week in that market at $1 30 In New York this product had a rather discouraging outlook at latest mail advices

Home Produce Market

WHEAT—A few lots have changed hands during the past week at $1 10 or over but the general current rates are not changed since our last report There are but few contracts made as yet for delivery after harvest the shippers and producers both being little inclined to speculate less in fact, than at any time since our direct shipments assumed any importance All are holding back and waiting for something to turn up The English market are better and prices on the continent are 3s per quarter higher than last week The San Francisco quotations also show some advance and our market would respond in case there should arise a demand for present supplies either for milling or shipping

FLOUR—A fair shipment was made on the outgoing steamer for the San Francisco market to day and exports to the north still continue Stocks on hand are however reduced but little since last week and prices are quite firm at $5 ₩ bbl for standard brands of extra $4 75 for outside and choice country $4 for superfine

OATS—The steamer which sailed from San Francisco to-day carried a few lots and under the stimulus of good prices in that market the surplus in our State is being about all taken out Quotations in the local market remain at 55@58c ₩ bushel at which all fair lots offering are freely taken

BARLEY—We hear of no transactions to establish prices and we quote nominal at $1 25 ₩ cwt. for common and $1 40 c15

MILL FEED—There is still a tendency to a good demand We quote bran at $15@16 ₩ ton shorts $22@25 chops, middlings etc $28@30 oil cake meal $40 with but little in market

HAY—A full supply in the market, quotable at $10@11 ₩ ton for fair to best timothy loose and $11 @12 baled

POTATOES—The market is in fair supply at 90c@$1 ₩ bushel for new and 2c ₩ lb for old

ONIONS—There are but few lots in the market quotable at 2c ₩ lb (nominally)

APPLES (DRIED)—There is a fair demand for fair lots either in sacks or kegs the latter preferred at 7c ₩ lb Exports are increasing

BACON—Sides are held at our former quotations of 11@12c ₩ lb and are in full supply shoulders are unchanged from 8@8½c while the market is overstocked with hams and quotations for common lots are 10@12c ₩ lb though they must be a little extra to command the latter figure

LARD—Good Oregon made is worth 16c ₩ lb in kegs or tins and is in brisk demand

BUTTER—We quote fair to choice roll at 22a25 ₩ lb, extra print for table use 30@35c common solid 18@20c

EGGS—The receipts have hardly been sufficient to supply the trade and jobbers are selling to day at 25c ₩ doz

CHICKENS—There is a fair supply but quotations for choice lots have advanced to $4 per doz. Common and spring are quotable at $2 75 to $3 50 according to size and quality

BEEF CATTLE—Live cattle in fair condition are quotable at 2½@3c ₩ lb on foot or dressed at 5@6c

HIDES AND FURS—Prices for hides are still down on account of the many damaged lots reaching the market. Undamaged are quoted at 10c ₩ lb for dry beef hides 6c for green culls 8a10c elk 18a20c ₩ lb deer 18@23c ₩ lb dried and 50a 75c a piece green mink skins each $1 50 otter $1@5 beaver 75ca$1

WOOL—The market is quite active and sales quite large in the aggregate. During the week the receipts from east of the mountains have been very heavy and from this valley several large lots have come forward by boat and rail Eastern Oregon wool is quotable at 21c ₩ lb for fair lots with a limited range above and below that figure according to quality Fair valley wool is held at 25@26c but large lots could not be placed readily at the last figure An advance of 3@4c ₩ lb can be obtained on extra fine

Three Attainable Blessings

A good appetite, vigorous digestion and sound sleep are three blessings that imply a good many more and are attainable by the daily use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters The stomach that is invigorated by that ruling tonic rapidly disposes of the food committed to it and at the proper time craves for more with natural earnestness and the brain from which pain and despondency have been banished by that salutary anodyne and cheering cordial enjoys at the hour of rest that tranquil dreamless repose for which no other boon that Providence can bestow can compensate Besides the eminent results the entire physique is strengthened and fortified against the attacks of disease by this splendid invigorant and protective agent which taken altogether is about as desirable as it is unquestionably one of the most popular medicines in existence

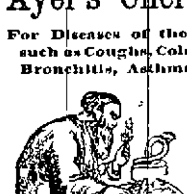
For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping, Cough. Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.



The few compositions which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one but many nations must have extraordinary virtues—Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral It has been known to the public about forty years by a long continued series of marvellous cures that have won for it a confidence in its virtues never equalled by any other medicine It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs Colds Consumption than can be made by medical skill Indeed the Cherry Pectoral has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors to a great extent and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members Sickness suffering and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks
